ABOUT ME

I like organizing events in the community, being involved with different charities, I like to voluntarily donate blood whenever I get the chance to do so.

In my spare time that I have I very much enjoy playing football/soccer and lately basketball with my friends and staying active throughout my day, also for me playing chess is very important to me and my mental health it keeps me on my toes and it teaches me to be patient even in our most difficult times.

As a student of computer science I very much enjoy spending time on the computer, working on improving my programming skills and trying to solve different problems and puzzles. I like traveling across my country with my girlfriend and talking to different people about their culture and their hardships that they face, meeting new people is very important for me.
